A Monthly Resource from the NCEO

Employee ownership does more than just give you the right to the value of what you create—it gives you access to a broad community of like-minded businesses ready to lend support. What does the rest of the ESOP community look like? Our recently updated Employee Ownership by the Numbers page gives a detailed overview of the state of the ESOP universe, including how many ESOP companies there are, where they're headquartered, what industry they're in, and more. See below for a snapshot of the current state of the ESOP universe!
